THE CIVIC LEAGUE

Will Meet in the Public Library Monday Afternoon.

Belton, April 4.—The civic league will hold their regular monthly meeting on Monday afternoon, April 6th, at the library in Stringer's building. The program committee, in honor of this, the first meeting at the library, have prepared a delightful program on South Carolina authors.

All the members are urged to be on hand promptly at 4 o'clock. This is a good chance to learn more of our own writers as well as to see the beautiful new library. The greater part of the books are in now and any time would be a good time to buy them.

This and we predict for it the very best success and when the list of books is published as that everyone can know the names of books on hand we are sure the room will always be crowded with those seeking information and pleasure.

Birthday Party.

Belton, April 5.—Little Miss Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker, who reside on River street, is seven years old today, and her parents made this day a very happy one for her and her many friends, class mates at school, etc. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in all kinds of games calculated to please the little lassies. Refreshments were served, ice cream, cake and fruit. The color scheme being pink and white. Souvenirs, white Easter rabbits with pink eyes.

This party of little girls had "The Time of Their Lives" and at the close of the entertainment each wished the little hostess many happy birthdays.

EUROPEAN NEWS

London, April 4.—Londoners are still talking about the sale of the Devonshire books, for it is doubtful if there is any one in the British capital who thought that it would ever be necessary for the Devonshires to resort to any means whatever to raise money for any purpose. It seems to have been the belief of everyone who keeps posted on the affairs of persons high in society that the Devonshire wealth was limitless. Certainly there is no doubt of the exalted position in society of the Duke and Duchess and their wife. It all goes to show that the money stringency is not confined to the United States. The Devonshire library sale has created a mild surprise.

The colored wig craze has reached St. Petersburg and completely captured Russian society. Nearly all the smart affairs that are given these days are attended by women whose hair matches their costume. Russian green seems to be a favorite color and next to this there is a demand for blue, Scarlet, lilac and salmon are also favorite shades. The daughters of the Czar seem partial to brilliant orange wigs which they ornament with elaborate diamond tiaras, combs, etc.

After years of experimenting, a young Florentine chemist named Guido Fel claims to have discovered a flameless powder which causes no erosion of the tubes or even the largest cannon. He says it is superior in curving power to gunpowder.

In an experiment in the presence of scientists and representatives of the army and in a room which had been specially prepared for the tests he demonstrated his invention and convinced those present that he had discovered the long sought for powder.

Atlanta, April 5.—A telegram was received in Belton this morning stating that Claude Major, of Dallas, Texas, was dead and that his body would be sent to Belton for interment. The deceased is a young man of about 18 years and is a son of Mrs. Julia Major of Belton. His body is expected to arrive here Monday.
